Unipart Way Awards Event Raises £6,200 for BEN

Unipart Group – the leading full service logistics provider and consultant in operational excellence – has raised over £6,200 for the automotive industry charity, BEN at its prestigious annual awards ceremony, The Unipart Way Awards.

The Unipart Way Awards celebrate the best application of the Group's philosophy of working to the benefit of both employees and clients. This year's overall winner, receiving the highest accolade the Group bestows, was Unipart Rail.

The event, held at Unipart's headquarters in Oxford, was a perfect opportunity for staff and managers to raise funds for Unipart's favourite charity. This year, the funds were raised by the auction of a number of experiences – including a day working in Raymond Blanc's kitchen, lunch on the Orient Express, a Supercar and Rally day, a family photo shoot and a box at Leicestershire Tigers Rugby Club – plus a collection from the various tables of diners.

Frank Burns, Managing Director of Unipart Logistics, who oversees the Unipart Way Awards, commented:

"At the end of what has been a very difficult year for the whole industry, it was wonderful to see that Unipart has once again raised the benchmark for operational excellence and at the same we were also able to raise a significant sum for BEN."

"Unipart has worked with BEN for many years raising money through many different types of charity events. In the current economic climate it is more important than ever that we continue to support our industry charity which provides practical help and advice to the most vulnerable people in the automotive industry."

Charles Davis, BEN's Director of Fundraising and Communications said:
"BEN enjoys a great working relationship with Unipart and we are touched that they chose to remember their industry charity at their recent Awards Dinner. This donation will allow us to reach out to more of our colleagues in need and let them know that, whatever their problem, BEN is always only a phone call away."
